

Kids Fly Safe

To keep small children safe in an airplane in case of turbulence, you can bring the child's car seat on board, although anyone who has ever traveled with their kids knows that there's enough other stuff to carry without adding another bulky 20 lbs to your luggage. The other alternative is CARES ($75) from Kids Fly Safe. CARES weighs only one pound and fits easily into the included 6-inch sack, or you can even stuff it in your pocket. It's made of the same material as the airplane seat belts, it installs easily on any plane, and it's FAA approved for kids from 22-44 lbs. Don't take off without it! [Another great PTPA winner]
